Don't miss out on our keynote speaker, Jane Jenkins Herlong. "Don't Throw Tomatoes at My Field of Dreams"

When life gives you over-ripened tomatoes, make some ketchup! In this presentation—full of enriching content and enlightening humor—Jane shares successful business and life strategies learned from working in her father's tomato fields as a young girl. Jane's humorous, original storytelling focuses on personal accountability and life-balance, while promoting the highest standards of ethics for peak performance and bottom line productivity. This keynote presentation is perfect for groups who need to out-think or re-think the competition.

You will discover:

- The value in making great mistakes.
- Why business as usual is NOT business as usual —so be unusual!
- How difficult people can actually empower you.
- How to identify the "Best Worst Thing that Ever Happened."
- How to become a "keeper" to your customers.

Evening Entertainment

Bill Torrey

Bill Torrey is a natural storyteller who had the advantage of growing up on a farm in Essex, VT a setting full of stories. By following the rugged heritage of his family, he was led to a life working in the forests of Vermont. By the time he was 19, he was working as a lumberjack earning eighty cents a tree and all the sawdust he could eat. He soon went off on his own logging with small, light on the land equipment to better serve the land and his conscience.

In the fall of 2013, after forty years tending the forest Bill retired from logging with most of his sanity and darn near all his fingers and toes.

He decided to pursue other callings. He has found oral storytelling to his liking and has won many storytelling competitions.

Bill was a featured entertainer at the Addison County Fair & Field Days this past summer.
